SPOTTY STRENGTH IN STOCK MARKET

DEALINGS IN SOME STOCKS IS MARKED BY FEVERISH FLUCTUATIONS — HASTY REALIZING SALES ARE DISQUIETING.

NEW YORK, November 28.—There was a spotty show of strength in today's stock market in a number of stocks not usually offering the most prominence. There were rather feverish fluctuations in some of the stocks. Hasty sales to realize was disquieting rather than reassuring.

The Harriman Pacific, Reading, Steel, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting dropped to lower levels. The movement of these stocks determined the undertone of the whole market. Bonds were irregular.

METALS

NEW YORK, November 28.—No change of consequence occurred in the metal market today in the absence of cables.

Tin was reported easy at 29.75 to 29.95.

Copper was firm, some of the larger producers being said to be holding for prices. Lake, 14.37½ to 14.50; electrolytic, 14.12½ to 14.25; casting, 14 to 14.12½.

Lead was dull at 4.27½ to 4.32½. Spelter was steady at 5.10 to 5.15. Iron was unchanged.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, November 28.—Wheat closed easy, a shade higher to a shade lower on final quotations. December, 103.5 to 3.4; May, 108.7-8.

Corn was weak and close down at the lowest point, with prices 1-8 to 3-8 to 1-2 lower. December closed at 62.14 to 3-8 and May at 63½.

Oats closed weak at the lowest point with prices 1-8 to 1-4 lower; December, 45½; May, 50.3-4.

SILVER

Bar silver, 48; Mexican dollars, 45.

CATTLE

CHICAGO, November 28.—Cattle: Receipts, 2,000; steady. Beefsteers, 3.30 to 7.60; Texans, 3.40 to 4.30; westerns, 3.10 to 5.60; stockers and feeders, 2.60 to 4.70; cows and heifers, 1.50 to 4.90; calves, 5.00 to 5.65.

Sheep: Receipts, 2,000; steady. Natives, 2.50 to 4.75; westerns, 2.60 to 4.60; yearlings, 4.10 to 4.85; lambs, 4.00 to 6.50; westerns, 4.00 to 6.30.

WHIMS IN WILLS.

Curious Desires Have Actuated Many Testators.

The dryness of the law is sometimes alleviated by the freaks and whims that appear in wills.

Some persons have used their wills as means of paying off old scores. In 1770 Stephen Swain of the parish of St. Olaves, London, left "John Abbott and Mary, his wife, 6 shillings each for a bribe for fear the sheriff should not be provided." In 1708 Philip Thickness willed that his right hand be cut off and sent to his son "in hopes that such a sight may remind him of his duty to God after having so long neglected the duty he owed to a father who once affectionately loved him."

Lieutenant Colonel Nash got even with his wife by leaving the bell ringers of Bath Abbey £50 a year on condition that they muffle the bells of said abbey on the anniversary of his marriage and ring them with "doleful accentuation from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m." and on the anniversary of his death to ring a merry peal for the same space "in memory of his happy release from domestic tyranny and wretchedness."

Jasper Mayne, who died in 1020, must have been a person of humor. He left his servant an old valise, stating that it contained something that would enable him to drink. When the valise was opened it was found to contain only a red herring.

Occasionally a testator exhibits an original idea as to the disposition of his body. Sicut Bonof, whose will was probated in Paris in 1877, ordered that he be buried in his old trunk to save the expense of a coffin. He added that he was attached to the trunk, it having gone around the world with him three times.—New York Post.

FAKE PAINTINGS.

"The tricks of the picture dealer? They are not to be counted. Here is one that was played quite recently. A dealer ordered from an artist a tavern scene in the old Dutch style signed in the corner with a facsimile of Jan Steen's signature. When the smoky look of age had been given it the dealer eyed it with approval.

"Splendid!" he said to the needy artist. "It's a pity you shouldn't have the credit of it. Pray sign it with your own name. It may make your reputation."

The poor artist, delighted, painted over the signature of Jan Steen and set his own name there. Three weeks later the picture started for New York, consigned to a Fifth avenue merchant of paintings. But by the same boat went an anonymous letter to the custom house officials warning them that an attempt was being made to smuggle in a chief d'oeuvre of the Dutch school worth $40,000. The picture was seized. Experts were called in. They scraped off the signature of the artist and found underneath that of Jan Steen. The importer had to pay a fine of 50 per cent—that is, $20,000—and in addition $8,000 duty. Three days later, however, he sold his Jan Steen (guaranteed by the United States government) for the round sum of $50,000. Thus he made a fair profit, for the original cost of the picture was $14-70 francs paid to the poor devil of an artist.—Broadway Magazine.

THE SNEEZE INOPPORTUNE.

"Of all the embarrassing predicaments, the one that I was in was the worst ever," said a prosperous downtown business man, addressing his partner in their office on the fifteenth floor of one of the Broadway skyscrapers.

"I got in the elevator a few moments ago," he continued, "and the draft as we shot forward caused me to sneeze. I felt it coming, and as I opened my mouth for a hearty 'achu' out popped my $150 set of false teeth. Say, when that car full of silly stenographers began to snicker I could have gone through a keyhole without touching slides, top or bottom!"—New York Globe.

FORCES A DISCHARGE.

"The Japanese servant has many curious traits," said the man who keeps one, "besides his constant habit of eating raw fish, but he is inordinately polite, as a rule. For instance, he never will give you notice that he wishes to leave you. Instead his work will grow steadily worse and worse till you can't stand it any longer, and so you fire him. It's always done purposely to avoid the necessity of telling you outright that he is tired of you and wants to quit."

Social Analogy.

Mrs. Subbubs—That Mrs. Newcome just moved into the Dudley's old house on Saturday, so I called today. Mr. Subbubs—Well, how like poker this social game is! Mrs. Subbubs—How do you mean? Mr. Subbubs—Why, in poker you also "call" when you want to see what the other person's got.—Philadelphia Press.

The Missing Feature.

"That meadow scene looks far from natural," declared the stage manager. "What can all it?" "Regosh, I believe it's the absence of advertising signs!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sneaky.

Magistrate—Sneaky sort of man? What do you mean, sir? Witness—Well, sir, he's the sort of man that'll never look ye straight in the face until your back's turned."
